Ginkgo
 Contemporary Cuisine from Sichuan & Northwest China

At Ginkgo Restaurant, master chefs of Sichuan and Dongbei cuisine create genuine, regional dishes, taking you on a journey of discovery into food styles that have developed over a thousand years. These styles, characterized by a holistic approach to quality and freshness, have today gained recognition among the leading cuisines of the world.

You can sample genuine Sichuan recipes – some gentle as a summer breeze and others with the fire and bite of the legendary dragon. From north-east China, come dishes steeped in history. Manchurian and Russian influences contribute to a cuisine deliciously reflecting both cultures.

Every dish is freshly cooked for your enjoyment and this may take a little time. So relax, enjoy one of our amazing cocktails, choose a wine and prepare yourself for an adventure in cuisine.

Our "entrée" is a small dish of food, rather than a starter to a meal, so don't be surprised if your "entrée" is not the first dish on your table!

As reported in "The Christchurch Press", dining at Ginkgo is "the next best thing to eating out in China! With minimum concession to Western taste buds, if you want to taste it like it really is, accompanied by a selection of NZ wines and imported Chinese, European, or local beers, Ginkgo is the place to be... For the intrepid and well-traveled, Ginkgo is a must. The flavours will astound you!"

THE GUIDE TO NEW ZEALAND RESTAURANTS

This restaurant is the best Chinese eatery in the country. It's the closest thing you will find to true Chinese cuisine with none of that kowtowing to what we Westerners feel Chinese food should be. It opened in mid-1989 and within a month it was packed out with mostly Chinese savouring their terrific food. The surroundings are basic, it's a bustling place with Chinese staff running in all directions talking in their native tongue, and the menu is a mixture of Chinese and Malayan. The dim sum lunch is superb ... sliced abalone congee (porridge), chicken feet with a spicy sauce, steamed beef ball with bean curd skin, pigs shank with rice, roast duck, shrimp dumpling noodle, lotus seed bun and many others served in the little bamboo steamers. At night there's a large menu of everything from stewed spare ribs Chinese style to Szechuan prawns, and deep fried lotus seed bun with salted egg for dessert. Prices are very reasonable. BYO. Yum char lunch daily, dinner nightly.
